OUR STORY

offering experience

At Nutiva, we know our way around the organic hemp farm. We've been a force in advocating for hemp since creating America's first hemp bar in 1999.

Since then, we've donated more than $1 million advocating for hemp and fighting regulatory battles through our 1% program. Our efforts helped to overturn the DEA's ban on hemp seed food products in 2004 and pass the Farm Bill in 2018.

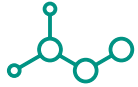

Nutiva's commitment to the hemp industry has never wavered, and our fight will continue until federal regulations allow the true benefits of hemp to be shared by everyone.

Our roots in the hemp industry are deep. Even our name is derived from hemp: the 'nut' of cannabis sa'Tiva.' So, when it comes to creating pure, consistent and efficacious CBD products, our 20 years in the organic hemp industry make all the difference.

To ensure our CBD products are always safe, pure and of consistent quality and potency, nothing can be left to chance. That's why we've built a closed-loop, fully traceable, USDA Organic Certified supply chain on 4,000 acres of family farms. Here, we're also setting the standard for sustainability in the US hemp industry through regenerative farming that's reducing atmospheric CO₂ and protecting biodiversity.

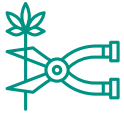

offering safety and consistency

1 GENETICS

It all starts with proprietary organic hemp strains, bred to deliver optimal characteristics.

2 FARMING

It's been proven that hemp farming contributes positively to soil regeneration. We take this even further with our commitment to organic, regenerative farming practices that reduce atmospheric CO₂ and protect biodiversity.

3 EXTRACTION

Why stop at organic seeds and organic farming? Our extraction processes are always USDA Certified Organic, whether using CO₂ or food-grade ethanol derived from organic cane.

4 DISTILLATION

Our USDA Certified Organic distillation and ultra-filtration processes are far from simple, but they quite simply achieve the highest level of purity.

5 TESTING

Every lot is tested for potency, residual solvents, heavy metals, pesticides, microbials, mycotoxins and more. Then it's tested again by an approved third-party lab where it receives a fully traceable and scannable Certificate of Analysis (COA).

6 BOTTLING

The last step is our own SQF Certified food and dietary supplement bottling facility where every product is manufactured according the strictest cGMP standards.

offering the most optimal delivery

When creating the best product, every ingredient matters. Our CBD is blended into our own USDA Certified Organic Medium-Chain Triglyceride (MCT) Oil made from 100% organic coconuts. Stable, odourless and easily metabolized by the body, MCT Oil allows for effective uptake of active ingredients to deliver an optimal CBD experience.

With our own Organic MCT Oil supply chain, our deep roots in U.S. organic hemp farming and our closed-loop system, there's virtually no limit to the amount of Organic Full Spectrum Hemp Extract that Nutiva can produce. Of course we'd never sacrifice safety or ethics in order to achieve scale.
